Why These Countries?

- ◆ Belarus is the fourth highest importer of engineering goods in the CIS region, after Russia, Ukraine and Kazakhstan. Venue of the BSM – Minsk.
- ◆ Global engineering imports of the country and share of India is increasing at a healthy rate.
- ◆ Russia remains one of the most promising markets for Indian exporters. Before the global economic crisis, during which 2009 GDP declined 7.9%, Russia had a nine-year run of continuous rapid economic expansion, with GDP growing approximately 7% annually. It has emerged from the recession in the third quarter of 2009; forecasts for 2010 GDP range from 3.3% to 6.2%. Moscow, Saint Petersburg and Nizhniy Novgorod have been chosen as the venues of the BSMs.
- ◆ Nizhniy Novgorod is an upcoming industrial hub of Russia. The United Russia exhibition takes place in Nizhniy Novgorod every year in October, which attracts participants from all regions of Russia. This exhibition is a microcosm of the many regions of Russia and is a must visit for delegates if they want to familiarize themselves with the enormous diversity of this huge country.
- ◆ Ukraine is believed to have the potential to become one of the economic bellwethers of the next century. It is the second largest importer of engineering goods in CIS, after Russia. The BSM will be held in Kiev, the capital.
