Chairman's Pen

My dear fellow exporters,

The Council will be hosting its mega engineering show INDEE Brazil 2009 at Centro de Feiras e Eventos do Dva, Caxias do Sul, RS Brazil from October 20-23, 2009. This exhibition will be held at the MERCOPAR 2009 which is the largest Subcontracting and Industrial Innovation Fair in Latin America. 128 member companies are participating at this show and India has been designated as the Feature Country at this exhibition. The India MERCOSUR Preferential Trade Agreement has been implemented with effect from June 01, 2009. INDO-Brazil 2009 will give a perspective to the participating Indian engineering companies to get a feel of the Brazilian market as well as the adjoining markets and also get a feedback of the engineering industry of this region.

EEPC INDIA also intends to sign a couple of MOUs with the local leading Chambers of Commerce in Brazil so that it is possible for us to continue our relations in that region and get feedback from that part of the world on a continuous basis post the event.

Yours sincerely,

About Indonesia

Indonesia has emerged as one of the most potential countries in the South East Asian Region immediately after Singapore. India's engineering exports achieved a growth of 2.09% during 2008-09 over the previous year, which has lot of scope for growth. The recent trend in the export growth of engineering products and services to Indonesia could be a focal point to capitalize on the opportunities existing over there.

Indonesia boasts one of South East Asia's most vibrant economies, the fruit of decades of industrial growth and political stability.

Indonesia's Business Scenario

Indonesia has the largest economy in South East Asia, and is one of the emerging market economies of the world. It has a market-based economy in which the government plays a significant role by owning more than 164 state-owned enterprises. As per "The Economist" estimated GDP for 2008 was US$ 510.8 billion. The economy's performance in the first quarter of 2009, when real GDP grew by 4.4% year on year, was surprisingly strong, mainly owing to the resilience of private consumption. In 2008 merchandise exports (fob) rose by 18% to US$ 139 billion and imports (fob) expanded by 36.6% to US$ 116 billion. Major imports are Machinery and Electrical Equipment (26% of total import) and Base Metals (11.9% of total import). Industrial sector has more than 40% contribution in GDP with major industries including petroleum and natural gas, textiles, apparel, and mining. Indonesia's machine tool & metalworking industries are creating higher demand for machines, technology and solutions.

Indonesia is also a part of the ASEAN trade block. The bilateral agreement between India and the ASEAN countries will provide newer opportunities to the Indian business community.

Under AFTA's Common Effective Preferential Tariffs (CEPT), ASEAN member countries have agreed to progressively reduce import duties, ranging from zero to 5%, on all products. As an original member, Indonesia fully implements CEPT.

EEPC INDIA Invites Participation at Multi Product Trade Delegation to Brazil, Peru, Argentina, Uruguay & Paraguay

(22nd February to 9th March, 2010)

EEPC INDIA is pleased to inform that a Multi Product Trade Delegation will be visiting Brazil, Peru, Argentina, Uruguay & Paraguay during 22nd February to 9th March, 2010.

Brazil

Brazil is the largest economy in the Latin America and Caribbean Region. Brazil is the world's tenth largest economy at market exchange rates and the ninth largest by purchasing power parity. Economic reforms have given the country new international dimension. With large and developed agricultural, mining, manufacturing and service sectors, as well as a large labour pool, Brazilian economy is booming. The country is regarded as one of the groups of four emerging economies called BRIC (Brazil-Russia-India-China). Brazil is also one of the member of the MERCOSUR trade bloc which sources about 80% of its import requirements from outside the bloc. As a founder member of the MERCOSUR, Brazil is a party to a number of Free Trade Agreements and Framework Agreements entered into by the MERCOSUR. Brazil is a highly diversified and industrialized economy and a world leader in the agro industry and bestowed with extensive natural resources. The bilateral trade between India and Brazil has almost trebled over the last three years to US$ 3.12 billion in 2007-08 and has already reached $ 3.5 billion within the first nine months of the year 2008-09. Export of engineering goods from India is increased from US$ 130 million during 2006-07 to US$ 412 million during the year 2008-09 (prov.).

EEPC INDIA is organising its next prestigious event INDEE at Caxias do Sul during the period from 20th to 23rd October, 2009 in association with MERCOPAR, one of the largest Subcontracting & Industrial Innovation Fairs.

Peru

The economy of Peru is the 47th largest in the world. Peru is an emerging and market oriented economy characterized by a high level of foreign trade. Peru's economy is well managed, and better tax collection and growth are increasing revenues and the economy has registered growth over the last eight years. Large number of important bilateral co-operation agreements exists between India and Peru. Peru is also attractive destination for investments because of its steady economy growth. Peru offers huge market of over 25 million people with 73 billion dollars GDP. India-Peru relations have traditionally been cordial and friendly and a number of Indian companies visit Peru regularly and India exports a wide range of goods to Peru like drugs & pharmaceuticals, two wheelers, three wheelers & their parts, automobile parts, rubber tyres, electrical and other machinery, iron and steel products etc. Exports of engineering goods from India is increased from US$ 31 million during the year 2006-07 to US$ 143 million during the year 2008-09 (prov.).

Argentina

Argentina is the second largest country in South America and is constituted as a federation of 23 provinces and it is classified as an upper middle-income country and a secondary emerging market. Argentina is a part of the regional trading block and customs union in South America i.e. the MERCOSUR, which facilitates free movement of goods, services, capital and people within the region and having a common external tariff with the rest of the world. Argentina is also a signatory to about 19 bilateral treaties for the avoidance of double taxation and a number of preferential agreements with its neighbours, Uruguay, Chile, Mexico and Paraguay. The country is one of the fastest growing economies in the world. In recent times, several Indian companies have made investments and joint ventures in Argentina amounting to about $ 800 million in the fields of such as IT, steel, chemicals and pharmaceuticals. Argentinean companies have also begun exploring Indian investment options through branch offices initially, and later through joint ventures, in the engineering and pharmaceutical sectors. The India-Mercosur Preferential Trading Agreement (PTA), which has become operational in June 2009 is expected to provide a significant boost to bilateral trade and investment flows. Export of engineering goods from India is increased from US$ 66 million during 2006-07 to US$ 82 million during the year 2008-09 (prov.).

Uruguay

The Uruguayan economy has grown steeply in the last few years : 7.4% in 2007 and over 11% in 2008. Uruguay is a founder member of MERCOSUR. Export of engineering goods from India is increased from US$ 5 million during the year 2006-07 to US$ 12 million during the year 2008-09 (prov.).

Paraguay

Paraguay has turned into a highly profitable market particularly for Indian SMEs. India's exports to Paraguay have increased manifold largely due to the increasing demand for Indian products in Paraguay. Trade between India and Paraguay stood at around US$ 46.99 million during 2007-08, marking a 56% increase, as compared to 2006-07. Indian SMEs that have ventured into the Paraguayan market have benefited from its investment friendly policies and business conducive environment.

The global crisis has triggered a fundamental change in the mindset of Latin American business towards India. The crisis has tightened the availability of local financial resources and credit. Price is the main concern and this has led them to look for less expensive import sources like India. India's exports to Latin America are set to increase in the coming years because of the favourable market conditions prevailing in the region and the positive mindset of Latin Americans towards India.

Taking all these factors into consideration and the vast avenues available for increasing our share of exports to this region, EEPC INDIA is fielding Multi Product Trade Delegation, with the active support of Indian Embassies, Chambers of Commerce and Trade Associations in these countries.

OMAN

Larsen & Toubro Heavy Engineering LLC is expected to formally launch operations at its state-of-the-art yard in the Port of Sohar in November, 2009. The new L&T plant will give a technological push to Oman's burgeoning industrial engineering sector. The project, which is a joint venture of Larsen & Toubro (L&T) and The Zubair Corporation of Oman, is destined to seize greater market share in the manufacture of critical equipment for the GCC's rapidly expanding hydrocarbons and petrochemicals industries. It would be the first-of-its-kind facility specialising in the fabrication of mega-dimensioned and high-tech equipment for the process industry.

The L&T yard features a covered fabrication shop of around 12,000 square metres fitted out with an array of sophisticated manufacturing systems. It is also equipped to manufacture precision custom-designed and engineered critical equipment and systems for core sector industries, such as refineries, petrochemical and fertilizer projects, and other process industries and power plants in the region. In addition to the expertise in the handling of metals and the engineering of complex metallurgical product, the facility will also cater to the specialist needs of high-tech industries across the Middle East.

L&T Heavy Engineering LLC has the advantageous access to a dedicated 300-metre-long jetty at the Port of Sohar designed to handle loadouts of ultra-heavy modules in excess of 10,000 metric tones. Furthermore, its location adjacent to the equally state-of-the-art fabrication facility of its sister concern, the L&T Modular Fabrication Yard LLC, promises complementary synergies that either venture can capitalize on in securing high-end contracts.

The Modular Fabrication Yard specialises in the fabrication of offshore marine structures. Its expertise covers the fabrications of jack-up and semi-submersible rigs, the conversion and integration of Floating Production Storage and Offloading (FPSO) systems, and other high-end offshore structures. L&T Heavy Engineering LLC has already bagged a contract for the manufacture of two critical systems for a major refinery project. Made of special alloy steel with stainless steel overlay, the systems are due for delivery by the end of this year. Significantly, the project will contribute to the transfer of specialist engineering technology and applications. Some young Omanis are also getting trained by the L&T officials at a state-run vocational training institute in the Batinah region. A number of high-school graduates are presently being groomed in specialised trades like welding, fitting, and so on.
